

Local Report

Lubrichem was founded nine years ago and assembles reputable companies covering a large part of the Romanian market of car and industrial lubricants and chemicals.

The aim of Lubrichem concerning the renewal of the Romanian law in the field are based on the values promoted by the organisation: solidarity, respect for free competition and political non-affiliation. Moreover, we want to be familiar with the evolutionary trends of our industry at European and global level, as well as from a technological and legal perspective. Therefore, UEIL, of which we are a member since 2010, provides accurate information about the European and international market, but is also a channel of communication with the decision-making structures at the European level. Therefore, we want to allow our members to be more acquainted with the Romanian and European laws in the field, but also with the directions of evolution at European level.

Lubrichem wants to become a modern institutional interface between the member companies and the Romanian and foreign authorities and to act effectively towards the optimisation of the business environment.

The most important problems that our industry faces for nearly three years are derived from the law governing the management of waste oils. Lubrichem, supported by UEIL, acts with the aim of reviewing this law, so that the management of waste oils is compliant with the European principles and requirements and has positive effects on the business environment and on the protection of the environment.

Lubrichem congratulates UEIL for the 50th anniversary wishing that it has the opportunity to continue to express the visionary spirit of the European business community in our industry!

After demonstrating the new online version of Europalub at the UEIL Congress, the steering group from across Europe is pulling together the existing data and making arrangements to gather the information. The steering group is continuing work on the generation of the 2013 data.

With the support of UEIL membership, we have been able to re-shape the historic information and have that available for use in different electronic formats for people undertaking market studies.

If you want to access the pre-2012 European data or are interested in early bird subscriptions please contact Suzy Jarman suzy@ukla.org.uk
